Hello BIOFACH!

In 2026, the SONNENTOR team will once again take part in the world's leading trade fair for organic food. The Change Champions from the Waldviertel region of Lower Austria are arriving with a vibrant selection of new tea and spice innovations – and, fresh off the press, their latest Common Good Report. This report makes SONNENTOR's sustainable approach to business truly measurable through transparent figures and facts.

Visitors to Hall 7, Stand 611 are warmly invited to experience the company's spirit first-hand through tastings and one-on-one conversations. SONNENTOR is entering the new year full of energy and determination, ready to continue shaping the organic sector in a positive way.

The four SONNENTOR promises:

- Finest organic quality
- Innovative drive
- Reliable supply capability
- A lived commitment to the common good

Did you know? At SONNENTOR, just one in 8,600 products sold is ever returned, thanks to rigorous quality assurance. Every ingredient is checked based on more than 600 parameters, supported by systematic quality controls and frequent sensory tastings. While standards are uncompromising, creativity remains at the heart of SONNENTOR's product team. Fuelled by inspiration from around the world and close to home, the team experiments with new recipes and develops unique tea and spice blends that combine traditional European herbal knowledge with global flavours for distinctive, aromatic results.

This spirit has recently given rise to three new Asian spice blends, aromatic and fruity Easter novelties, and many new additions to the tea shelf. The popular syrup range is also growing this year with the introduction of the alcohol-free Elderberry Grapes Punch Syrup. This will surely sweeten the coming winter. Rounding off the year is the new edition of the New Year's Tea, presented in a playful lucky-charm vending machine design.

To ensure that these innovative recipes are successful and reliably available to customers, a secure supply of raw materials is essential. SONNENTOR therefore prioritises direct trade wherever possible. Currently, 66 Percent of raw materials are sourced directly from producers, thereby avoiding unnecessary price speculation.

As an organic pioneer, SONNENTOR is fully aware of its responsibility towards its organic farmers and small family-run businesses. At the same time, SONNENTOR is committed to international partnerships to actively promote biodiversity around the globe. All of this reflects the company's dedication to the common good.

Matcha Powder and Syrup – New to the Range

Enjoy Matcha the Easy Way with SONNENTOR

Matcha is far more than a trendy drink – in fact, quite the opposite. This frothy green tea is deeply rooted in Japanese tea culture and has been enjoyed for several centuries. Traditionally, its preparation follows clearly defined rituals. However, with SONNENTOR Matcha Powder and Matcha Syrup, this time-honoured yet on-trend drink can be enjoyed easily and at any time.

Matcha Powder: A Classic Matcha Experience

Anyone wishing to enjoy this cult beverage the traditional way should reach for SONNENTOR Matcha Powder. For the authentic matcha experience, half a teaspoon of finely ground green tea is mixed with water heated to 80°C and whisked until frothy with a special bamboo whisk known as a chasen.

The result: a pleasantly bitter drink with a vibrant green colour that helps ease into the day and makes any afternoon slump a thing of the past.

Tip: For a matcha latte, simply top up the prepared matcha with warm, frothed (plant-based) milk.

Note: Available exclusively from the SONNENTOR online shop and SONNENTOR shops until further notice.

30 g / RRP €16.49 / Art. No. 01292

Matcha Syrup for Instant Enjoyment

Floral, pleasantly bitter and vividly green, Matcha Syrup is a little gift from heaven for anyone who loves a quickly prepared drink. Here's how it works: mix the syrup with a blend of water and (plant-based) milk – ideally half-and-half – stir well, and enjoy.

Tip: Use cold water and cold (plant-based) milk to quickly create an iced matcha latte. Add a few ice cubes, and your refreshing summer drink is ready.
